

Riverside picks up York HVAC line.

Starting in October, 2006, We will be featuring the extensive York line of heating and cooling equipment in place of the Bryant line that we have previously carried. This change will not affect any other lines of equipment (furnaces, boilers, water heaters, an so forth) that we sell.

This change is the result of a decision by our primary wholesale supplier to switch from Bryant to York.

York is an extremely well-known brand that is unusually well thought of in the industry. They have products that offer the same reliability and enhanced features that most of our customers have come to rely on and appreciate, including outstanding performance, attractive design, technological advances that provide quiet, evenly-distributed comfort, and great support. We feel that having immediate access to the various types of equipment through a local wholesaler makes it worthwhile to pick up the York line ourselves.

We do not anticipate that this will have any effect whatsoever on our ability to maintain and repair existing Bryant equipment, as we will continue to have access to their replacement parts. The Bryant / Carrier line continues to be excellent, backed by one of the clear industry leaders.
